Dear Howard:

It was a pleasure talking with you on the telephone yesterday and sharing thoughts about Newark and how B.I.C.C. is trying to help solve problems in our City.

As mentioned, last year we were most appreciative of your faith in B.I.C.C. Now we see the possibility of some important new ventures for our agency which should lead to the betterment of our City. Regardless of the outcome of our particular request, you will always be a good friend of ours. We'll hope, however, that Victoria can see its way to helping us participate in some of these vital plans in the near future by helping us over the next several months.

With all good wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Vice President & Cashier

Dear Mr. Quirk:

When I returned from vacation, I read the correspondence from Marshal Wolf to you and learned of the Victoria Foundation's grant of $10,000 to BICC. We deeply appreciate your financial assistance, and are grateful for the interest that you and the Foundation have shown to the Business and Industrial Coordination Council. Mrs. Margaret Parsons has introduced us, and I would like to discuss BICC with you when we can do this without the pressure of having to discuss financial needs.

Please call me on 468-3124 and we can make an appointment.

Very truly yours,

Dear Howard:

Amidst all the present turbulence in Newark, those of us from the business community working with B.I.C.C. are convinced that it continues to be a vital part of helping improve the quality of life in Newark and better relations between business and community people. We are now on the verge of tying down two significant projects.

One involves a substantial grant from the Federal Government to develop a special program for the Newark school system and others throughout the country called "World of Finance" patterned after the highly successful programs now in all Newark schools in the industrial arts area. These are called "World of Construction" and "World of Manufacturing" and were developed by faculty at Ohio State with substantial Federal money. We have seen tangible evidence that these highly viable programs excite junior high school students and that a peripheral effect is improved reading skills along with acquiring meaningful knowledge. If this development grant is approved, it will be a "positive first" for Newark.

The second major program involves a substantial contract with the U. S. Department of Labor, Adaptive Systems, and B.I.C.C. to substantially enlarge the computer job matching experiment that has proved so useful over the past few years.

In the meantime, until these programs jell, and this is expected within the next 2 months, B.I.C.C. will go out of business on its current level of operation without an additional $15,000. This money, plus what we are projected to receive from the Chamber of Commerce, Adaptive Systems, and others, will comfortably carry us through the summer months. We are turning to you now as an "old friend" who has lived with our successes and problems over the years. We believe that if you could help us with a $10,000 unrestricted grant now, it would pay great dividends for our agency and for our troubled city.

I have enclosed a copy of material outlining what we are, what we have done, and what we are hoping to do this year and, at the suggestion of Joe Partenheimer, are being in touch with Mr. Cowan. I'd like to give you a call next week to give you some further background.

Best regards to you, Barbara and the family.

Sincerely yours,

Vice President & Cashier
